Goal and Mission

The Chinese program at UConn offers a full array of course in Chinese languages and cultures, Chinese literature in translation, Business Chinese, Chinese film, and Chinese sociolinguistics.

Not only does China boasts a history five thousand years, China also possesses the most rapidly developing economy in the world. As one of the critical languages designated by the U.S. State Department, Chinese will open another world for you, in terms of both perspectives and career.

CONTACT INFO

Prof. Chunsheng Yang
chunsheng.yang@uconn.edu
860-486-9240

Prof. Liansu Meng
liansu.meng@uconn.edu
860-486-9258

Department of Literatures
Cultures & Languages
Oak Hall East SSHB Rm 207
365 Fairfield Way U-1057
University of Connecticut
Storrs, CT 06269

http://languages.uconn.edu
Chinese Minor
15 credits
- One required course: CHIN 3250W
- Two languages courses from: CHIN 3210, 3211, 3220, 3240, 3260
- Two content courses from: CHIN 3230, 3260, 3270, 3271, 3282

Chinese Major
36 credits
- Four language courses from: CHIN 3210, 3211, 3220, 3240, 3250W, 3260
- Four content courses from: CHIN 3230, 3250W, 3260, 3270, 3271, 3282
- Four related courses in a related program

Enrollment in a study abroad program in a Chinese-speaking country is required for all Chinese majors.

Study Abroad in China
- Summer study abroad program in Tianjin, China
UConn-LCI (Language and Culture Immersion) is a five-week intensive Chinese language and culture immersion program geared towards improving Chinese learners’ linguistic competence and cultural awareness in context.

The study abroad credits count towards Chinese major and minor.

www.studyabroad.uconn.edu

- Semester-long study abroad in China
  - Fudan University
  - Ningbo Nottingham University

- Other third party programs
  - CET
  - CIEE